Lenten Guideposts

As another public service to its readers The Gettysburg Times will publish "Lenten Guideposts" a series of forty stirring messages from prominent Americans, throughout the Lenten season beginning with Ash Wednesday's edition.

These forty persons, some famous scientists, sports figures, actors, writers and others, have written stories of inspiration and faith which The Times feels will be of intense interest to its readers.

Garry Moore, Rise Stevens and Glenn Ford are among artists from the entertainment field who have powerful messages of the power of faith.

Successful businessmen tell their stories as well as Herman Wouk, author of the best-selling "The Caine Mutiny" and "Marjorie Morningstar."

There are obscure persons, too, who have found the true meaning of God and the power He can provide.

Some of the pieces you will read are: "Appointment With Adventure," "How We Rediscovered Sunday," "Banners In The Mud" "God, Send Someone," "A Pickpocket Faces Tomorrow," and many others of similar interest.

Don't fail to read Lenten Guideposts in The Times beginning Wednesday.

Seventeen other weather posts had no abnormal readings.

Virtually all of the stations in the past have registered similar pressure waves and earth shock waves as well when atom or hydrogen weapon tests have been conducted by the Soviet Union or the United States.

Regulations of fast abstinence for all Catholics of the Harrisburg Diocese during the Lenten season were announced Sunday in all Catholic churches. All Catholics over the age of 21 and under the age of 59 are bound to observe the law of fast. On the days of fast only one full meal is allowed. Two other meatless meals sufficient to maintain strength, may be taken according to each one's needs, but together the two meals should not equal another full meal. Meat may be eaten at the principal meal on a day of fast except on Fridays, Ash Wednesday and the Vigils, or days preceding Holy days. Believe Barker Girl Died Of Fright, Starvation In Closet

BELLMAWR, N.J. (AP)—Coroner Robert J. Blake said today young honey-haired Mary Jane Barker may have died of fright and starvation after accidentally trapping herself in a closet of a new unoccupied ranch home.

The body of the 4-year-old girl was found yesterday slumped in a corner of the 3x5-foot closet when 6-year-old Maria Fietta, visiting the newly built home of her aunt, playfully threw open the closet door.

Maria's puppy, missing with Mary Jane since last Monday morning, leaped into the arms of his young mistress, apparently little the worse for its experience.

Mute Evidence

Mary Jane had been romping with the puppy in the yard next door to the new home when last seen.

There was mute evidence on the inside of the closet door that the child may have kicked it repeatedly in an attempt to escape. The door has no lock. It can be opened readily from the outside by a knob, but there is only a small turn-latch on the inside. Detectives said this latch was extremely tight and difficult, if not impossible, for a child of Mary Jane's age to turn.

Blake said the condition of the small enclosure indicated both the girl and animal had been in the closet for some time.

CONSTABLE IS GIVEN HEARING ON 2 CHARGES

Justice of the Peace Robert P. Snyder today was pondering the question of how much force a peace officer can employ in making an arrest as a result of charges of assault and battery brought by Kenneth Orndorff, 24, Gettysburg R. 5, against Cumberland Twp. Constable Fred Swisher as a result of Orndorff's arrest February 22 at a Barlow Fire Co. public dance.

A two-hour hearing on the charges was held Saturday afternoon after which the justice reserved his decision. He said this morning he has not reached his decision in the case.

Orndorff is charging assault and battery as a result of his being struck, he claims, by the constable. He is charging aggravated assault and battery because he claims he was struck by a blackjack. He suffered cuts about the mouth and back of the head which required several stitches, and several teeth were cracked as a result of an altercation at the Barlow Fire hall.

Under Bond For Court

Monday Constable Swisher brought several charges against Orndorff before Justice of the Peace John H. Basehore, Justice Basehore found Orndorff guilty of a charge of disorderly conduct and Orndorff paid the fine and costs on that case.

Justice Basehore also found a prima facie case on several other charges against Orndorff growing from the Barlow altercation and Orndorff posted $100 bail to appear or court on those charges.

The charges brought by Constable Swisher against Orndorff include assault and battery on the person of Howard McClellan, deputy fire marshal of the Barlow Fire Co.; obstructing, resisting and opposing Constable Swisher while the constable was attempting to make a legal arrest on the disorderly conduct charge; disturbing the peace and assault and battery on Constable Swisher by striking Swisher as he sought to make the arrest.

Stories Disagree

Orndorff denies that he did anything that should have caused an arrest. He told the justice he had been accustomed to attending the Barlow dances. At that time he

Bishop Schott Speaks

In addressing the confirmation class Bishop Schott reminded those present that "all men are created by God to be saints. With the reception of the sacrament of confirmation each receives the Holy Ghost to aid and strengthen him in doing God's will."

Bishop Schott reminded his listeners that they have reason to be "proud of this great country. No country in the history of the world has given so generously of her goods to feed the poor and hungry. Yet with all of her greatness she has not given the world a canonized saint. This great gift remains to be given."

Bishop Schott closed with the prayer that those receiving the sacrament of confirmation "might open wide their hearts to the Holy Ghost, that they might cherish Him and accompany Him into eternity." After bestowing the sacrament on the class, he congratulated the class for their "perseverance and labor" which led them to "this great moment in your lives."

The altar was decorated with red roses in honor of the Holy Ghost. The boys and girls of the class wore red and white gloves.

said, there were two rest rooms, one for men and one for women at the hall. Last Friday night when he returned to the hall after an absence from several dances, he was about to use the rest room previously set aside for men, and was told that it was for women. Checking the other and finding it said "women," Orndorff said he assumed that someone had been joking with him and returned to the first rest room. Shortly thereafter, he found several men at the door and when they sought to grasp him, he, not knowing what it was about, sought to break away, he said.

He added that he was forcibly taken to a car outside the building, that he sought further to get away and the next thing he knew he tasted blood and found he had been hit by some object — he believed a blackjack.

He argued that he had made a natural mistake, and held that he had done nothing other than to try to get out of a situation which he feared meant trouble for him, and that he did not know he was involved with an officer seeking to make an arrest.

Constable Swisher testified he had told Orndorff that he was a constable.

Today's Talk

YOUR COMPETITORS
Competition is always good. Free enterprise is the American way — and it has astonished the world! You gain nothing, and lose much, by fighting your competitors. Better them and keep making a better product. Keep competing with new ideas, creating confidence and good will. Friendly rivalry is profitable.

Be your own competitor! Be a leader, not a follower. Your competitors are an asset. They keep you on your toes, and the saying goes, and spur you on. With little or no competition, a business is liable to get in a rut and cause an entire organization to stagnate and get careless.

Competition is the life of trade. The worthy and competent keep forging ahead, regardless of competition. The maker of the better mousetrap has few worries because he dismisses them from day to day. Those who beat a path to his door recognize merit and wish to make it their own as good. Competition proves it. When the test has been made the one who pays full attention to his own business is the winner! Your competitors may even be your pace makers — without their realizing the fact. We are not always conscious of the forces that drive us on. By creating the best that we know, we pay a tribute to honesty, enterprise and vision.

You can learn valuable lessons just by watching the moves of some of their mistakes. Ideas are rampant. No matter how good the idea, or product that your competitors may have there is always something better. This fact is illustrated all about us in growth and progress.

The one from whom to learn is that one who is doing a better job than you are! Study him well. He may even be working on an idea of your own!

Tomorrow Mr. Adams will talk on the subject: "Happiness in Selling."

Just Folks

TOMORROW
Tomorrow is the day to be sure I'm sure I won't be here to see. When I make plans some bill to pay, It always seems to be today.

I think when comes tomorrow then Some better bit of verse I'll pen. But when I settle down to write It is today or else tonight.

I've talked tomorrow down the years, But never that good day appears. When'er I wake, let come what may, It always seems to be today.

The letters I have planned to write Will not be in the mail tonight. Tomorrow should I live to see Perhaps my desk will tidy be.

Tomorrow is an easy word, Ridiculous and quite absurd. However great the need may be, It is a day we may not see.

Tomorrow for my cozy bed I never yet have raised my head. When I am dressed and on my way Somehow it always is today.

Tomorrow when with life I'm through There'll be a lot I meant to do. But better tomorrow fail me may, I'd sooner get to work today.

OPPOSITION TO BEN GURION AT HOME MOUNTS

By ERIC GOTTGETREU
JERUSALEM — Word spread that Premier David Ben-Gurion will brave mounting opposition at home today, to reaffirm Israel's fateful decision to pull out of the Aqaba Gulf coast and the Gaza Strip and thereby avoid punitive U.N. sanctions and a rift with the United States.

A vote of confidence in the government was expected to follow Ben-Gurion's announcement and subsequent debate.

In a four-hour session yesterday, Ben-Gurion and his ministers studied a message from President Eisenhower expressing hope the pullout would "go forward with the utmost speed." Eisenhower pledged the United States would work to realize Israel's hopes for peace and security in the Middle East.

Won't Support It
Two left-wing parties in Israel's coalition government—Achdut Avoda and Socialist Mapam — with two Cabinet members each, have served notice they would not support a withdrawal policy.

Such a stand could force the four dissenting ministers to resign. Ben-Gurion's government would then have to be reshuffled and reconfirmed by Parliament.

Israel's sudden indecision about carrying out its pledge to withdraw was prompted by apprehension over a statement U.S. Delegate Henry Cabot Lodge made in the U.N. Assembly Friday after Israeli Foreign Minister Golda Meir announced the troop pull-back would be made.

Israeli Fears Aroused
Lodge said the future of Gaza should be worked out within the framework of the 1949 Israeli-Egyptian armistice. This aroused Israeli fears the way was being paved for return of Egyptians to the strip and a renewal of border raids. Israel wants the U.N. to administer Gaza, not the Egyptians, who had occupied it under the armistice terms.

Israeli Ambassador Abba Eban sought over the weekend to obtain clarification on this point from Secretary of State Dulles. He relayed his findings to the Cabinet.

Informants said Ben-Gurion had urged the Cabinet that withdrawal was the lesser evil and that he had volunteered to take the lead in pushing the move through Parliament even at the risk of losing personal popularity.

The withdrawal issue raised a storm in the Israeli press. Nationalist newspapers described the American terms for evacuation as "deceit" and "treachery."

Discover Honey Combats Alcohol
GENEVA, N. Y. — The New York State Agriculture Experiment Station says that a tablespoon or two of honey will make a drunken person sober. The sugars in the honey cause a chemical breakdown in the alcohol in the system. The same treatment may be helpful in routing a hangover, the station reports.

SCRANTON, Pa. — A Lakewood, N.J., man and a widow who was visiting were found dead from illuminating gas in her one room apartment yesterday.

Dr. Paul E. Kubaski, Lackawanna county coroner, identified them as Lawrence Brescia, about 50, and Mrs. Margaret White, 45, who shared the room with Mrs. White, was revived and removed to Municipal Hospital.

Police said the gas came from an open jet in the back of an old fashioned gas range.

Body Of Boy Is Still Unidentified
PHILADELPHIA — Police today pursued several more clues in the case of the small boy found murdered last Thursday in a waste strewn lot in northeast Philadelphia.

John J. Kelly, chief detective inspector, said police believe the unidentified boy may have been immersed in water shortly before he was beaten to death. Also, two persons, one from Newark, N.J., and the other from Bethlehem, Pa., telephoned to say they might be able to identify the youngster. They are expected to try today.

On the subject of the water, Kelly said the soles of the boy's feet and the palm of his right hand were puckered in the manner characteristic of skin that had been in water for some time.

ISRAEL TO GIVE U. N. ASSEMBLY REPORT TODAY

By WILLIAM N. OATIS
UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. — Israel planned to give the U.N. General Assembly further word today on prospects for its withdrawal from Egypt and the Gaza Strip.

Arab delegations were expected to press their resolution demanding sanctions against Israel should Israel retreat from its promise of "full and prompt withdrawal" made to the Assembly Friday by Foreign Minister Golda Meir.

Word from Jerusalem was that Premier David Ben-Gurion and a majority of his Cabinet were reconciled to going ahead with the withdrawal, despite considerable opposition from both government allies and opponents.

Statement Tomorrow
Israel's U.N. Delegate Abba Eban said on a New York television program, "We shall also make our position clear in the General Assembly. There will be a statement by the government of Israel to the U.N. tomorrow."

There was no official comment from Cairo, but two Cairo newspapers said President Nasser's government was not bound any "bargains" between the United States and Israel.

"The political situation after aggression must be the same as before aggression," Al Ahran said. "What follows a withdrawal is Egypt's asking for compensation for aggression against her."

To Push Resolution
Muhammad H. El Farra of Syria, an Arab League spokesman at the U.N., told a reporter his group would push its resolution calling the sanctions against Israel "if no signs of complete withdrawal appear."

But Foreign Minister Charles Malik of Lebanon said sponsors of the resolution would make up their minds only after they knew Israel's final decision. The resolution has been held in abeyance pending the outcome of Israel's negotiations with the United States and the U.N.

A U.S. delegation source said there was "still a possibility" that the United States would introduce a substitute resolution it

The report for the school board tax shows $8,584.06 still outstanding at the end of the year of which $4,764.06 represented tax on real estate and $3,820 per capita tax. Sheely's report filed with Clerk of Courts Kenneth W. Johns shows the 389 persons assessed for real estate tax and 334 assessed for per capita or occupation taxes paid $24,687.11 in taxes during 1956.

Of that amount the 14-mill borough tax brought in $4,800.32; the 35-mill real estate and $15 per capita tax of the school board raised $16,390.55; the county's seven-mill tax brought in $2,447.37 and the institution district's three mills secured $1,048.87.

May Eliminate Heart Diseases

BRADFORD, Pa. — Scientists are working toward curing diseases of the heart's aortic valve and hope to eventually eliminate the disease altogether, says Dr. Paul Dudley White, Boston heart specialist who treated President Eisenhower.

White spoke last night at the fourth annual Victory Dinner of the McKean County Heart Assn.

He predicted that within 10 years physicians will be able to employ direct open heart surgery to cure aortic valve diseases.

White asked the public to be patient until heart treatment problems are solved. He praised the heart association for raising research funds by acquainting the public with the problems of heart treatment.

Wilkes Edges Muhlenberg To Take Mid-Atlantic Mat Title; Bullets Tie For Eighth Place

Wilkes College won the Middle Atlantic States Collegiate Association wrestling championships Saturday by edging runner-up Muhlenberg, 52-50, before nearly 1,000 fans in Eddie Plank gymnasium.

Other point totals were: Lafayette 34; Drexel 29; Hofstra 26; West Chester 20; Temple 17; Gettysburg and Ursinus 16; Elizabethtown 9; Swarthmore 7; P.M.C. 5; Bucknell 4; Delaware 3, and Lycoming 0.

The new champions failed to win an individual championship as Muhlenberg came up with three individual titles and came close to staging a surprising upset. Wilkes had qualified four of the finals and two more for the consolation finals while Muhlenberg qualified three for the finals and another for the consolation finals.

All the Wilkes men lost in the finals while all the Muhlenberg wrestlers were victorious. Had Dick King, Muhlenberg, 157, won his consolation final over Jerry Scanlon, Temple, the Mules would have tied Wilkes for the championship.

Padula Outstanding
Dick Padula, Ursinus, 137, was named the outstanding wrestler of the tournament on a poll of the coaches following the final bout Saturday night.

Jerry Harrell, Gettysburg's lone entry in the finals, lost to Paul Billy, Muhlenberg, when Billy succeeded in gaining a time advantage. The final score of the bout was 2-1.

Two pins took place in the finals, both by Drexel. John Orr, 130, pinned James Ward, Wilkes, 130, in 2:39 of the third period with a reverse arm lock. In the heavyweight bout, Fred Ulmer pinned Dick Norton, Lafayette, in 2:05 of the first period.

The most exciting bout of the finals was Padula's 5-3 win over Don Reynolds, Wilkes, in the 137 bout. Padula, apparently very confident, was reckless in his effort to pin Reynolds. Padula has only been defeated once in collegiate dual competition. That came several weeks ago when John Hollinger, Elizabethtown, gained a 3-2 decision. In his march to the finals, Reynolds eliminated Hollinger with a 5-1 verdict.

Other Champions
Other individual champions were: 123, Tom Carlson, Lafayette, who was awarded a referee's decision over Keith Williams, Wilkes, after the two had tied in regulation time and a double overtime; 147, Don Simpson, Muhlenberg; 157, Dan Notine, Hofstra; 167, Frank Gutierrez.

Next year's tournament will be held at Wilkes.

Mount Hosts CCNY Tonight In NCAA Tournament Game

Mt. St. Mary's College, enjoying its best basketball season in history, plunges into a pair of post-season tournaments this week, the first of which will start tonight at 8 o'clock in Memorial gymnasium, Emmitsburg, when City College of New York will be met in an opening round game of the NCAA small college tournament.

The Mountaineers tangle with Johns Hopkins Tuesday evening in the Mason-Dixon Conference playoffs which will be held Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday at Loyola College, Baltimore.

Tonight's game promises to draw one of the largest crowds ever to jam the Mount gym. CCNY's Beavers have compiled an 11-6 record to date including triumphs over Fordham and St. Francis of Brooklyn. Syd Levy, 6-9 center, has been the outstanding point man for the Beavers with an average of over 17 points per game. Other top performers for CCNY include Hector Lewis, 6-5, Bob Silver, 6-5, Bill Lewis, 6-3, Joel Ascher, 6-4, Joe Bernardo, 5-9, Ralph Schefflan, 5-0, and Stan Friedman, 5-8.

The Mount, who ran their current winning streak to 15 with a surprisingly easy victory over Villanova Friday night, has compiled a 20-4 mark against collegiate opposition. Jack Sullivan, who has been making a shambles of Maryland state scoring marks, now has a four-year career total of 2,330 in 94 games.

CELTICS CLINCH FIRST EASTERN DIVISION TITLE

BOSTON (AP)—Rookies Bill Russell and Tom Heinsohn helped the firehouse Boston Celtics achieve a goal the veterans couldn't reach alone—their first Eastern Division championship in the 11-year old National Basketball Assn.

In recent years, the Celtics have been the high-scoring, fast-breaking sensations of the league but their backcourt play could not carry them to the top.

Clincher By Russell
A formidable front line in which All-Americans Russell and Heinsohn played vital parts today has changed frustration into fruition.

It was Russell, the agile 6-10 Olympic star, who applied the clincher yesterday when Boston defeated Rochester 111-102 for the division crown to supplant defending world champion Philadelphia.

Big Bill, who has been known to look down through a basket while hovering above it, scored 30 points, grabbed 24 rebounds and blocked shots like he was born to the task.

"Extremely Lucky"
"I've had lots of thrills, but this matches any," Russell said after the game. "I've been extremely lucky always to have played with a great team."

After its five remaining regular-season contests, the Celtics will sit back and watch Philadelphia and Syracuse fight it out for the right to challenge them in the semi-final round of the NBA playoffs beginning March 23.

Meanwhile, in the Western Division, St. Louis kept alive its title hopes by defeating sectional leader Ft. Wayne 112-102 while Minneapolis downed New York 119-108 and Syracuse belted Philadelphia 112-88.

Says Pitching Too Much Winter Too Much

FT. MYERS, Fla. (AP)—Southpaw Luis Arroyo of the Pittsburgh Pirates says pitching the regular season and then doing more hurling in the winter league takes too much out of a pitcher.

"I know it's hard to pitch all year around," said the little Puerto Rican. "I've been doing it now for nine years. In the states in the summer and down home during the winter. I guess I averaged almost 400 innings a season."

"Take last year in Pittsburgh," Arroyo continued. "Bobby Bragan was forced to use Bob Friend every fourth day and a couple of times relieved with him. If I had been able to pitch with four days rest and sometime five, I'll bet he would have won more than 20 games."

Tom Faulkner's Biglerville Cannons placed second with 40 points. Both schools wound up with three individual champions. Approximately 1,000 fans witnessed the finals Saturday night.

The three finalists for Biglerville were their defending Section champs: Jim Daughenbaugh, 133, who won last year at 138 pounds; George Flickinger, 95, and Ralph Mentzer, 154. Flickinger won his title match via a fall while Daughenbaugh and Mentzer won on decisions.

Hamner Has Not Given Up Pitching

CLEARWATER, Fla. (AP)—Mayo Smith, manager of the Philadelphia Phillies, and Granny Hamner, the pitcher (?), shortstop, (?) denied a report that Hamner would abandon his attempt to become a pitcher.

"As far as I'm concerned, I'm still trying to be a pitcher," Hamner said. "Doctors tell me if I try to swing a bat consistently my shoulder will hurt after a few days."

Smith said there is no plan to change Hamner back to the infield. "It's still too early to tell about his pitching," the manager added.

The report from the other day was that Hamner was disenchanted with pitching and would try to regain his stride at shortstop. Hamner took to the mound when soreness in his left shoulder prevented him from swinging a bat without pain.

GARCIA, FOWLER COME UP WITH BAG OF TRICKS

By ED CORRIGAN
The Associated Press

Pitchers Mike Garcia of the Cleveland Indians and Art Fowler of the Cincinnati Redlegs have been in training only a few days but already each has come up with a gimmick to fool the enemy batters.

For Garcia, the situation is serious. He has won 11 games in each of the last two years, so it is imperative that, at 23, he produce a winning season.

He has developed a knuckle ball and on the strength of it, he said, he thinks he can make a comeback.

"Surprised Me, Too"
"I think I threw it in a game with Boston in late August last season," Garcia said. "I forget who the batter was, but it sure surprised him."

"It surprised me, too. I got it over the plate."

Fowler appears ready to join the no-windup club of the New York Yankees' Don Larsen. "It isn't my idea," he said at the Redlegs' camp in Tampa. "The manager (Birdie Tebbetts) and Tom Ferrick (pitching coach) want me to try it out."

Swing Seems Okay
And on the subject of pitchers, Granny Hamner may not be one, after all. Hamner, the Philadelphia Phillies' former shortstop, showed up at Clearwater, Fla., as a pitcher after a shoulder injury hampered his batting.

But he has been taking batting practice daily and swinging as though he never had an injured shoulder.

On the injury front, triple-crown champion Mickey Mantle of the Yanks reports that his knees feel fine. This will come as good news to the Yanks bigwigs who were worried about their slugger when he played in the players' golf tournament a couple of weeks back. At that time, it was reported he was being bothered by a recurring knee injury.

May Shift Yost
Elsewhere on the training circuit: Washington manager Chuck Dressen is thinking of shifting third baseman Eddie Yost to left field.

Pittsburgh pitchers Bob Friend, Roger Sawyer and Joe Trimble all suffered slight leg injuries practicing fielding and covering first base.

Joe Cunningham, who failed in two previous tries, back trying for a handyman's job with the St. Louis Cardinals.

Bobby Doerr is back in uniform for the first time in five years as Boston Red Sox infield instructor.

WHO'S ON FIRST? ASK PHILS, CUBS, GIANTS, TIGERS

By SHELDON SAKOWITZ
The Associated Press

Early reports from the major league spring training sites seem to indicate several teams face a common problem: Who's on first?

The Philadelphia Phils, Chicago Cubs, New York Giants and Detroit Tigers, among others, are wrestling with the problem.

Mayo Smith, Phils' manager, said he hopes rookie Ed Bouchee will make the grade at first. He is switching Merv Blaylock, who shared the position with catcher Stan Lopata last season, to the outfield.

Drove In 94 Runs
Bouchee hit 298 and drove in 94 runs for Miami of the International League in 1956 and then batted 273 in nine games with the Phils late in the season.

Bob Speake, a rookie sensation with the Cubs two seasons ago, will get an opportunity to dislodge veteran Dee Fondy from first at Chicago.

Other Camp News
The 26-year-old southpaw hit .300 for Los Angeles of the Pacific Coast League.

Elsewhere around the camps: Catcher Sammy White and infielder Billy Klaus agreed to terms with the Boston Red Sox.

Outfielder Roy Sievers signed with Washington for $19,000. Cincinnati thinks it's come up with a dark horse pitcher in southpaw Jerry Davis, who had a 10-6 record last year with Nashville.

Rookie pitcher Joe Trimble of Pittsburgh was sidelined indefinitely with a recurrence of an injury to his left knee.

FAVOR TURNER OVER RUDY GWIN

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Veteran Gil Turner is a 2-1 choice to spoil Rudy Gwin's big-time debut at New York's St. Nicholas Arena tonight.

The 26-year-old Philadelphia, who has fought most of the top welterweights and middleweights, figures to have too much experience for the 24-year-old Cleveland welterweight in the televised 10-round.

Turner, back in the welterweight (147 pounds) division, has a 51-14-1 record, including 34 kayos. Gwin, a former amateur and all-Navy champion, has a 7-2-2 record with only one kayo.

Du Mont will telecast at 10:30 p.m., EST.

Two outstanding 21-year-old welterweights, slugger Sugar Hart of Philadelphia and Walt Byars of Boston, clash in the feature 10-rounder at Madison Square Garden Friday night. The two will be making their debuts on national television.

Amateurs instead of the pros are spotlighted on the Wednesday night radio-television boxing program from the Chicago Stadium.

The lightweight, welterweight, middleweight, light-heavyweight and heavyweight finals of the Western Golden Gloves Championships will be beamed coast to coast.

LOOP PLAYOFFS ARE AHEAD FOR TWO TOP TEAMS

By ARNOLD ZEITLIN
The Associated Press

You'd think winning a conference basketball title would carry any college team into a major postseason tournament.

But the Atlantic Coast Conference and the Southern Conference will put their champions through intracircuit tournaments this week before sending them on to the NCAA major college tournament.

Meanwhile, leagues and conferences throughout the country officially will name their titleholders and send them to join high-ranking league also-rans and independents in the six tournaments involving 113 college basketball teams.

North Carolina Opens
North Carolina, No. 1 in the weekly Associated Press poll and undefeated in 24 regular season games, will open the Atlantic Coast Conference tournament against subpar Clemson (7-16) Thursday in Raleigh.

West Virginia, undefeated in 12 Southern Conference games, will be bolstered by the return of Hot Rod Hundley Thursday when the Mountaineers open the Southern tournament at Richmond against Davidson (7-19 for the season).

Hundley was reported well yesterday after a siege of flu.

If both champions hurdle their league playoffs, they will join 21 others in the sectional struggle toward the NCAA finals in Kansas City March 22-23. Fifteen teams already are set for the tournament.

Present Situation
Here's the situation among other conferences yet to name their NCAA representatives:

Big Seven: The Kansas Jayhawks (19-2) and seven-foot Wilt Chamberlain, the sophomore key to their No. 2 national ranking, have clinched a title tie. Kansas could cement a tournament berth against second-place Kansas State (14-7) Wednesday.

Ivy League: Yale (15-7) needs victories against sixth-place Penn Wednesday and fifth-place Harvard Saturday to clinch the title and tournament berth.

Temple, Lafayette Lead
Middle Atlantic: Temple (18-6) and Lafayette (22-3) are leading candidates.

Missouri Valley: The St. Louis Billikens (18-7) are assured of a first-place tie and could wrap up the alley title and NCAA spot with a victory over tough Oklahoma A&M (16-8) Wednesday.

Bradley (19-5), a game and a half behind, is in the running.

California Basketball Assn.: San Francisco (17-7), which virtually dropped from the national picture during a series of six early setbacks, is assured a tie and could clinch against St. Mary's Tuesday.

In addition, an "at-large" choice is pending.

Teams in the tournament are: Kentucky, Southeastern Conference; Michigan State, Big Ten; Brigham Young, Skyline; Southern Methodist, Southwest; Connecticut, Yankee; Morehead (Ky.), Ohio Valley; Idaho State, Rocky Mountain; Miami (Ohio), Mid-American; Texas Western, Border; California, Pacific Coast; and "at large" Canisius, Loyola (New Orleans), Oklahoma City, Syracuse and Notre Dame.

Weekend Results
Schools which don't make the NCAA may receive bids to the 12-team National Invitation Tournament in New York March 16-23.

Possibilities for the three remaining spots are Temple, Lafayette, Bradley, Utah, Skyline runner-up, and Duquesne.

In Pennsylvania over the weekend, Drexel Tech of Philadelphia grabbed the Middle Atlantic Conference NCAA small college bid by knocking off Franklin and Marshall 82-64. Lafayette rallied to beat Rutgers 89-82. Pittsburgh upset Penn State 80-65. St. Joseph's trounced Georgetown 77-58. Columbia walloped Penn 88-66. Muhlenberg defeated Hofstra 92-64 and PMC gave Ursinus its 16th straight defeat 68-58.

INVESTIGATORS WANT TO QUIZ BECK, BREWSTER

By NORMAN WALKER

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate investigators said Saturday they want to question Teamsters Union chiefs Dave Beck and Frank Brewster on whether they offered a $10,000 political contribution in an effort to get a teamsters man on the Oregon Liquor Commission.

Charges to that effect were made on Friday before the special Senate Rackets Committee by Howard Morgan, Oregon Public Utilities Commissioner and former Democratic state chairman. Morgan said teamsters officials tried to "take over law enforcement" in the entire state of Oregon.

Robert Kennedy, committee counsel, said in an interview he wants to ask Beck and Brewster about Morgan's testimony when they appear before the committee.

Recess Until Tuesday

The hearings are in recess until Tuesday because chairman McClellan (D-Ark) says "we all need a rest."

Beck is national president of the 1½ million member Teamsters Union, the nation's largest single labor organization. Brewster heads the union's powerful 11-state western conference of teamsters.

Beck has been invited to testify before the special group. He now is in Europe but is due back late this month. Brewster has been cited for contempt of Congress for refusing to answer questions in an earlier Senate investigation of alleged ties between racketeers and some labor union officials.

Center On Portland

The special Senate group, now conducting a search for evidence of underworld influence in labor and industry, currently is concentrating on the situation in Portland, Ore.

Morgan testified he was told last September by Manton Spear, Portland beer distributor, that the teamsters were willing to pay $10,000 into the campaign fund of Democratic gubernatorial nominee Robert Holmes to get one of their members or somebody else "acceptable" to them named to the state liquor commission.

Morgan said he turned down the idea, and that Holmes indignantly did likewise. Holmes was elected governor in November.

Morgan said Spear told him "Beck and Brewster were the source" of the alleged scheme. He said Spear informed him the teamsters wanted to be able to block any state liquor purchases of brands made by eastern distillers having labor troubles with the teamsters. All retail liquor sales in Oregon are made by the state.

Spear denied mentioning any $10,000 figure to Morgan. But he conceded under questioning he must have mentioned that "the union would contribute" in an effort to get a man on the liquor commission. He recalled having spoken to Morgan of the plan to block state purchases of certain brand liquors.

Spear denied having mentioned the names of Beck or Brewster, but said he was associated in the beer business with Dave Beck Jr., son of the Teamsters' national president.

PHILADELPHIAN FOR NAVY POST

WASHINGTON (AP) — Undersecretary of the Navy Thomas S. Gates Jr., a Republican banker from Philadelphia, has been nominated for secretary of the Navy to succeed Charles S. Thomas.

The nomination was announced by the White House on Friday. Released at the same time was an exchange of letters in which President Eisenhower expressed "very real regret" in accepting Thomas' resignation, effective April 1.

Thomas, a 59-year-old Californian, has been Navy secretary since May 3, 1954.

Gates, a graduate of the University of Pennsylvania and a Navy veteran of World War II, succeeded Thomas as undersecretary in October, 1953. With the promotion, Gates' salary would be increased from $18,000 to $20,000 a year. He is 50. His nomination is subject to Senate confirmation. In his letter to Eisenhower,

WARN BUILDERS CONSTRUCTION MAY NEAR PEAK

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP) — The construction industry roars into March still one of the liveliest items in the economy.

But builders are warned to watch the course of contract awards in the next few weeks to see whether the big industrial building boom is hitting its peak.

Washington now looks for industrial construction to rise about 5 per cent over 1956, a notable tapering off from the 30 per cent gain last year over 1955.

Steel Supply Tight
Demand for other types of construction — highways, schools and the like — will keep the supply of structural steel tight, and may delay some industrial building plans. Building costs went up 5 per cent last year and may rise 3 per cent more in 1957 — which also could affect business building plans. Higher costs of financing the expansion program could be another dampener.

Figures out this week show that total construction contracts awarded in January were 4 per cent over the same month last year, with manufacturing companies chalking up the biggest gains. This reversed a declining trend in the final months of 1956.

Commercial Work Up
Commercial construction awards — office buildings, stores — also rose in January. Public works awards declined in January from year-ago levels. But a reversal of this is expected later in the year as school and road programs get under way.

Tight supplies of structural steel may hamper some building plans.

Thomas gave no specific reason for his resignation, but he told newsmen he was leaving to allow his assistants an opportunity to advance.

It was reported William B. Franke, assistant secretary for financial management, was in line to succeed Gates as undersecretary.

County grand jury of "unlawfully, willfully and corruptly" agreeing to accept a $5,000 bribe from Dr. Howard Harmon.

Cox has filed countercharges against Harmon.

The 36-year-old Conroe, Tex., lawmaker was charged with agreeing to use his influence to kill a bill which, in effect, would have outlawed the practice of naturopathy in Texas. The indictment accused Cox of agreeing to accept the money from Harmon, of San Antonio, president of the

Not Going To Keep It

The grand jury action came while a Texas House of Representatives committee conducted its own investigation.

The House committee heard two men testify Cox had said he never intended to keep the $5,000.

The business manager of the Conroe Courier, Bill Bradford, testified "Jim (Cox) told me last Saturday morning that one of the nature doctors has offered him a bribe and he was going to accept it and turn it over to the proper authorities."

Both Deny Charges

On cross examination Bradford said Cox did not mention anything about "trapping a lobbyist" until after Cox had hired an attorney Wednesday.

Conroe insurance man Scott Owen testified Cox told him last Sunday "something about being offered a bribe" but gave no details.

A countercharge of bribery was filed in Austin yesterday against Harmon on the complaint of Cox. Both men deny the charges.

Works Six Months To Make Girl's Gown For Mardi Gras

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Sixteen-year-old Joy Somerville, shapely and sequin-studded, paraded enchantingly into the roving spotlights at a New Orleans Mardi Gras ball.

Thunderous applause from thousands of spectators exploded in the jammed Municipal Auditorium.

Nobody applauded knowingly for Marie Louise Catipon, sitting unnoticed in a darkened box. But it was she who fashioned the fabulous gown that sheathed the bewitching Miss Somerville.

Miss Somerville spent less than four hours in the gown. Mrs. Catipon labored six months on the Krewe of Carrolloir's costumes.

Her bank account gained little from the months of work and she took the applause while standing in the background.

Why does she do it?

"It must be because I love Mardi Gras. Once you become part of Mardi Gras, it's like a fever, it's hard to shake off," says the vivacious grandmother of six whose looks belie her 40-odd years.

There is a fierce rivalry among the Krewes — and costume — for the lavishment of the costumes. And there's a good deal of pride in work involved.

"In making a bid" Mrs. Catipon says, "I try to figure as closely as possible how much material will be involved. I want the Krewe to be satisfied, but my own pride is just as important. I won't let a costume go until I think it's perfect."

Her life just isn't her own from the first of August to mid-February, she says. The average work day runs close to 14 hours most days, and she's seen many times when she's worked around the clock as the deadline nears. And from February to August she worries about next year's ball.

"It gets pretty hectic, but there's nothing like Mardi Gras. You have to live it, and be a part of it to understand. For the last five years, I've been telling myself I'm going to quit, but I just can't do it."

All the headaches and long hours are forgotten as the Krewe stages its grand march around the auditorium with Mrs. Catipon trying to quiet her nerves in a darkened box seat.

The thunder of applause from the dotting audience sends her scurrying back to her patterns and next year's ball.

When the wind blows — this baby won't rock!

You can buck the strongest blasts of March in The Mighty Chrysler without road-sway or hard steering. Impartial wind tunnel tests proved that Chrysler's high rear fins cut down tail-wagging in the wind just as an airplane's vertical tail section prevents side-sway.

Snubbing Of Peggy O'Neill Changed Course Of History

WASHINGTON (AP) — The criticism of the President by Secretary of Defense Charles L. Wilson's wife, Jessie, is an old story by now but it has recalled past incidents where official wives have influenced the course of events.

The most celebrated precipitated a Cabinet crisis and led to the ultimate resignation of some of its members.

This was the case of the vivacious Peggy O'Neill, widowed young daughter of an innkeeper, who became the wife of Maj. John H. Eaton, White House intimate and secretary of war in President Andrew Jackson's administration.

Gossip gave Peggy a past. Cabinet wives, led by Mrs. John C. Calhoun, wife of the vice president, snubbed her. Mrs. Emily Donelson, Jackson's niece and official hostess, also snubbed her.

Jackson Was Angry
Jackson was infuriated. He begged his Cabinet to talk to their wives, and finally after an uncomfortable White House dinner where the women again pointedly cold shouldered the bewitching Peggy, he called a special session of the Cabinet and refused in detail the charges against the young woman's honor.

But the ladies still refused to accept her. Finally, Jackson kicked out some of the Cabinet members.

Some historians say the episode changed the whole course of American history, because the controversy over Peggy O'Neill widened the split between Jackson and Vice President Calhoun.

Were Budding Rivals
Martin Van Buren, Jackson's secretary of state, apparently tried to accentuate the differences between his boss and Calhoun. Van Buren, a shrewd politician, and Calhoun were budding rivals for the presidency later on, and it was Van Buren who actually forced the Cabinet resignations.

At any rate, Van Buren became vice president in Jackson's second administration, replacing Calhoun, and because of Jackson's forceful support he was nominated and elected president in 1836.

As for the gay and ambitious Peggy, she finally achieved the social success denied her at home in the courts of Europe and became a great favorite of the Queen of Spain where her husband was serving as the American minister to Madrid.

The citizens of Bermuda stole 100 kegs of powder from the British and shipped them to Boston to aid the American forces in the Battle of Bunker Hill. General George Washington sent them a letter of thanks.

SEN. MUNDT HAS MORE CASES BAD AS PORTLAND

By G. MILTON KELLY
WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Mundt (R-SD) says a special Senate committee investigating racketeering in labor and industry has "a dozen cases as bad as" a situation it is probing in Portland, Ore.

Mundt is a member of the committee which heard testimony last week concerning alleged alliances between officials of the powerful Teamsters Union and underworld elements.

The hearing resumes tomorrow. Committee Chairman McClellan (D-Ark) said James P. Elkins, a Portland gambler, will be recalled for questioning about his prior allegations that some Teamsters Union officials and racketeers tried to grab control of gambling activities and after-hours drinking clubs in Portland.

Robert F. Kennedy, committee counsel, said Elkins—who has been a "friendly" witness—will testify that tribute was collected from such activities, and will tell who got that money.

Kennedy said the committee will call William M. Langley, Multnomah County (Portland) district attorney now under indictment, and Clyde C. Crosby, organizer for the teamsters in Oregon, Wednesday.

He said Crosby will be questioned about his connections as a member of the Portland City Exposition-Recreation Commission. It has been charged in testimony that Crosby was allied with Portland underworld figures in efforts to influence selection of a site for an eight-million-dollar coliseum.

Mundt said the racket investigation already has shown a need for legislation to foster better rank-and-file control of labor union funds and activities.

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP) — The old stage coach in the basement of the Historical building will be refurbished and placed on display many times during 1957 when Oklahoma celebrates its 50th anniversary of statehood. It was in use long before the run of 1889 and during the run as Oklahoma Territory was opened.
